THE GAME KNOWN AS POKER. (From the St. Louis Journal.)
About two years ago a Missouri river steamboat left Fort Beaton with a party of tough and wellode miners on board. There were, also, among the passengers three or four "brace men," and, before arriving at Sioux City, they had, gonerally, cleaned out the pockets of the miners. The soat stopped at Sioux City to wood up, and found, among others waiting to get on board, a ministesmong others waiting to get on board, a ministerial-looking personage, with the longest and most solemn countenance on him you can well imagine. He was dressed in a suit of black, wore a white store-pipe hat and choker collar, ornamented with a black neck-handkerchief.

Well, he got on board and the boat started down the stream. For two days he was unnoticed by the other passengers, but one of the sports at last thought he saw a chance to make something out of the sad and melancholy individual. The latter would once or twice a day size up to the bar, and, with a voice that was as mild and gentle as a maiden's, sak for "a glass of soda, if you please," sad then he would pull a roll of bills from his pocket and take a quarter from their interior layers. Then he would say to the barkeeper, as if under a thousand obligations, "Thank you, sir," and walk aft again as if about to commit suicide. "Think you, sir," and walk aft again as if about to commit selecte.

This thing had gone far enough, and the gambler I have spoken of at last approached him.

"Would you like a game of seven-up, it?"

"Seven-up? What is seven-up? Please tell me, my good friend."

"Why, a game of cards, you know, just to pass away the time; let up hay a game."

"My good friend, I do not know anything concerning cards, I cannot play them."

"Well, come along, we'll show you how to do it." And the mild gualtenan in black, after some further protects, at length comessited.

They showed him how 'twas done, and they played several games. The gualtenan in black was delighted. Gamblers want to know if he will play poker, five-cents ante, just for the fun of the thing. Gentleman in black mays he can't play the game, but they expiain again, and the poker commences.
